

Field Linguistics / Describing and documenting endangered languages

Niveau d'étude
Master 1

ECTS
3 crédits

Volume horaire
18h

Présentation

DESCRIPTION

This course introduces the principles and methods of linguistic fieldwork. It consists of two interwoven components: one which presents the theory and methods of documentation of (mainly endangered) languages, and another practical component, in which we will apply these concepts to the description of a language.

Working with a language consultant (a speaker of a language unknown to the students and instructor), we will collect language data in order to develop an analysis of the language's phonology, morphology and syntax.

OBJECTIFS

On successful completion of this course, students should be able to have:

- * An understanding about the goals, methods, issues and outcomes of the field of linguistics devoted to documenting and preserving languages.
- * A practical methodology for eliciting and analyzing data from a speaker
- * An awareness of issues surrounding language endangerment
- * A general knowledge about linguistic diversity and its importance

HEURES D'ENSEIGNEMENT

Field Linguistics / Describing and documenting endangered languages	Cours Magistral	9h
Field Linguistics / Describing and documenting endangered languages	Travaux Dirigés	9h

PRÉ-REQUIS NÉCESSAIRES

Sufficient familiarity with phonetics/phonology to transcribe and analyse data in an unknown language

Pour en savoir plus, rendez-vous sur > u-paris.fr/choisir-sa-formation